DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Welcome to our production of Meredith Willson's The Music Man! This beloved musical is a celebration of small-town America, filled with heartwarming moments, lively music, and memorable characters.

River City, Iowa is more than just a setting; it's a character. Over the past four weeks the actors and production crew have worked to embody the idyllic charm and quirks of a small Midwestern town in 1912. Each character in The Music Man has a unique story to tell and our actors have been exploring the depth of the characters, from Harold Hill's charismatic charm and underlying vulnerability to Marian Paroo's journey from skepticism to love, to finding the nuances that make all characters distinct and relatable.

Set design, costumes, and props play a crucial role in recreating the ambiance of early 20th-century Iowa. Pay attention to historical accuracy and detail, while also infusing a touch of theatricality to enhance the visual appeal of the production.

The Music Man balances humor with heartfelt moments. We hope you find the humor in the dialogue and situations, and we hope you are moved by the emotional core of the story. May you laugh, cheer, and perhaps shed a tear as you follow the characters' journeys.

Theater is a collaborative art form, and this summer musical production is a clear example of this camaraderie. As a company we believe in open communication, creativity, and mutual support as we create a cohesive and memorable experience for everyone involved.

The Music Man is a show that resonates with audiences of all ages. We hope you will join us on this nostalgic journey and experience the magic of live theater. Enjoy the show!

Robert A. Stuart
